Orr-West Match Was Exciting to Spectators.

Driving Club Races Today—Ball at Fiesta Park—Tennis Play on Monday.

Ideal weather and a large gallery of interested spectators were the features yesterday at the Country Club in the second day of play for the men's amateur golf championship.

One of the surprises of the morning's round, was the defeat of young Hunter by the Riverside veteran, Maud. In the qualifying round, Hunter had defeated Maud in a close match.

Yesterday, however, Maud defeated Hunter with a little to spare, their medal scores being 71 to 81, with bogey at 39. Hunter put up a fine game throughout, but Maud was better, and played close to his old-time form.

The other interesting matches of the morning, were between second and West, and Orr and C. L. Hunter. West beat 1 up in 20 holes, only after a stubborn contest, and Orr had to extend himself to defeat C. L. Hunter 1 up in 19 holes.

The results of the morning's play were as follows:

1. Maud beat R. Hunter, 2 up in 19 holes.

2. West beat C. L. Hunter, 1 up in 19 holes.

3. Orr beat C. L. Hunter, 1 up in 19 holes.

4. West beat C. L. Hunter, 1 up in 19 holes.

5. Orr beat C. L. Hunter, 1 up in 19 holes.

BAD BACK TALK

Endorsed by a Los Angeles Citizen.

Bad backs mean bad kidneys. Sick kidneys can't do the work nature intended them to do. The result—lame backs, weak backs—backs that all the life had gone out of them—never return in the morning than at night—lots of their right in Los Angeles. Not so many as there were, however, have been cured, made strong and vigorous by

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

That's the little remedy that cures kidney troubles, lame backs and aching limbs, cures urinary every form of kidney disorder, down to the slightest appearance of a recurrence.

Here's Los Angeles proof:

H. J. Gardner, barber, of 634 Bellview Ave., been so bad with backache that I was compelled to place my hand across the loins for the slightest movement. These attacks occurred frequently for 15 years. I knew from other indications that I was either weak or overexcited, but I was too lazy to pursue to get relief. Advertisements for Doan's Kidney Pills which positively guaranteed a cure were taken as directed, induced me to go to the corner of Spring and Second streets, for a box. I eat time not only am I free from backache, but I feel like a new man. I feel like a new man. I feel like a new man.

Clever Capture—Identify Positively Established.The two foolish young dare-devils who held a Pasadena car and robbed the passengers on the East Side Wednesday night are in the City Jail with every prospect of expiating their crime with long terms in the penitentiary. They give their names as John Burke, aged about 21, and Frank Metzger, aged 21.
There is absolutely no doubt as to the identity of the prisoners. They were arrested Thursday night after having been shadowed all day and on very strong evidence that they were the guilty men. Yesterday all doubt was swept away by their positive identification by the motorman, conductor and several of the passengers.
The craftless criminals caused their immediate apprehension by selling one of the watches stolen in a second-hand store, after they had squandered most of the cash booty on entire new outfits of clothing. The watch has been recovered and identified by the owner.
The captives stubbornly refuse to talk of themselves or their crime. Little is known about them beyond the facts that they arrived here two weeks ago from El Paso, Tex., having spent some time in Mexico, and that they hail from Colorado. They are rough young fellows, well tanned by the sun, and look like cowboys or ranch hands.POLICE CONGRATULATED.

Bert Smith and Hugh Dixon, whose clever work reflects great credit upon themselves and the efficiency of the whole police department. Chief Elton and his men were the recipients of a flood of congratulations yesterday afternoon, many citizens calling in person and others conveying the good word by telephone to police headquarters. The catch was indeed a notable and creditable one, considering the start secured by the bandits and the hordes of criminals or suspicious characters in the city they had to be picked from.
Detectives Smith and Dixon will divide the $500 reward offered by the Pacific Electric Company.
The ability and promptness shown in the planning and execution of the captureThe trio played several games of pool, and about 12:30 p.m. the two first seen together left the place. Detective Dixon decided to remain behind and watch the young acquaintances, while Smith followed the departing pair. Smith met a friend whom he called to aid him in case his two men separated, and they followed their suspects to Orizaba's saloon, at the corner of Alameda and Aliso streets.
At this and neighboring resorts, the suspects spent a couple of hours in billiards and playing pool. Then they migrated to Gerber's saloon, corner of Aliso and Gerber streets, where they renewed imbibing.It was by this time 5:30 o'clock, and the trio had brought matters to a head. With his friend he entered the saloon and lined up at the bar, promptly by being invited to drink by the generous suspects. They all drank, and Smith engaged them in conversation, but they were considerably the worse for liquor. Charging his friend to keep the men there, Smith made a hurried trip to Police Station, and compared notes and the number of the watch with the information there.
Capt. Brodhead called the men he brought in, and Smith returned to Gerber's saloon.Stalling the saloon, Smith seized and handcuffed the men, telling them they were under arrest. There was no resistance, and the men were quite drunk. One of them exclaimed, carelessly, "All right." This man proved to be John Burke, the older of the two bandits. The other was Frank Metzger, who is thought to have been merely a pick-up companion.YOUNG METZGER SNARED.
Meanwhile Dixon had been following the young acquaintance, who had been left at the poolroom. This fellow strolled about the city alone, and finally went down First street to Vine and entered the Vendome. Dixon located him in room 18, and returned to the station, where he reported on his operations. The officers held a conference, and Dixon was dispatched for the watch sold to Mrs. Silverstein. The numbers were compared, and the officers felt sure they were on the right track.Capt. Hensley and Detectives Smith and Dixon got into the patrol wagon at 10:30 p.m., and went to the Ven-dome, where they found the man who they knew, and in the room were found the young suspect and the two cripples. When told that he was under arrest, the youth exclaimed:
"I'll go with you. What do you think I am? One of those car robbers?"This young man turned out to be Metzger. The room was searched, and the two cripples arrested half an hour later.HAD LITTLE MONEY.
Both Burke and Metzger kept absolutely mum after arriving at the station, refusing to make any explanations. The men were searched and found only $1.00 in their pockets, left from his share of the swag. Metzger did not seem to be so much, and produced $17.25. Neither man had any of the stolen jewelry.At the Vendome it was stated that the scrutiny of their victims, the men betrayed many signs of fear, sullenly hanging their heads, but saying nothing, and evading the gaze of the accusers. Metzger, the younger of the two, was extremely nervous, his eyes blinking and rolling restlessly, and his fingers trembling. Burke was much worse, but put on a better mask of indifference.The men were attired in new clothing, from underwear to stiff hats, the suits worn for the hold-up being found in their room, and the slouch headgear in a trash heap behind De-mond's haberdashery. The new apparel could not conceal uncouth and rough physical characteristics. Their faces are bronzed, as if by long ex-posure to wind and sun, and their Metzger, the nervous youngster, who collected the swag from the passengers, says he is 21 years old, but looks perhaps two years younger. He wore a during the robbery, but the mask did ousness was exhibited on the car, but the Burke and Metzger, who are not thought to have had a hand in the crime, but have proved to have had guilty knowledge or be able to give valuable information regarding criminals. Two of these are cripples, who gave the names of H. Ford and Tom with the bandits in the Vendome lodggave the name of Frank Miller, and was with Burke on the drinking bout which ended in their arrest Thursday.

sold has been secured, but the officers only a matter of a few days at most.

The capture and capture of the criminals by Detectives Smith and Dixon is interesting. The sale of Dor-reckless crime, proved their quick undoing.The officers started on their rounds Thursday morning with good descriptions of the much-wanted men, and shortly after 9 o'clock visited the sec-

No. 125 Aliso street. Mrs. Silverstein showed the officers the watch she had just purchased, and the officers imme-diately recognized its resemblance to one of those described by victims of the car robbery. The officers took a description of the man, and took a trail, scouting the vicinity for nearly two hours, without result. About 11 o'clock they came upon a pair whom they suspected, chatting on the corner of Commercial and Main streets, Burke and Metzger. The two men finally walked leisurely down Main to the corner of Alameda and Aliso poolrooms on "Nigger Alley," and were

BREEDERS OF CRIME.LAST fall newspaper men made a hunt by night through the ten-derloin and found it reeking with abandoned men.
It was predicted that this winter Los Angeles would see a reign of terror from this miserable tramp element.A railroad detective who had lived many months among the hobos said that they could be frightened away by a rock pile.
But the supervisors would not establish a rock pile.Newspapers told which saloons were used as "hang-outs" by thieves. Nobody thought fit to close those saloons.
The railroads, which might crush nearly the whole hobo problem if they would not often half-heartedly allow trainmen to connive with the tramps, did nothing.Much of the convulsion of crime now rending Los Angeles is the result.
And the end is not yet. Crime is still being plotted. The hang-outs are still in full blast.TWO-LEGGED HOOS.
It does not seem possible that human beings could fall so low as the twolegged hogs found wallowing around the "hobo corner" last night.
They are so abandoned that you instantly find yourself wondering if they have any physical feelings—if they could burn in fire and chill in ice.WHERE CRIME IS PLOTTED.
Near the corner of Los Angeles and First are six of the toughest saloons

A HOBOT JOINT ON EAST FIRST STREET.

You are sure that they are long since past the place where anything can penetrate their mental and moral callous. Nothing you could say would hurt their feelings, nothing you could say would cause them joy or embarrassment, enthusiasm or grief. They have two emotions left; one is thirst; the other beer.At 4 o'clock at night both sides of the street along Main to Second and on First to Los Angeles are lined with these men, standing on the curb, perched like gawky, dirty crows. They are waiting hopefully; they yearn to be drunk.There are hundreds of them. They lean against every wall, spit into every gutter and on every walk. They are dressed in filthy clothes. They smell bad. Ladies must shrink in passing them—not many have the temerity to go on those streets.TOUGH SALOONS.
One of the worst saloons is on First street half way to Los Angeles street, on the left-hand side. This always fills up among the first.Inside you see a long, bare room, with a bar on one side tended by a man with a square "mug" like a prison guard.You can hardly see across the room for the choking, foul air. It reeks with the smoke of rank tobacco.
Along the bar you could not squeeze in a human skeleton, through the crowd. All evening long it is packed like a sardine box.Along the opposite wall are leaning filthy men, already beginning to look blear-eyed. Some of them are sitting dizzy or asleep, and they slip and away and slide along the wall.As the night goes on, you see them lying across beer kegs or thrown like refuse in the dirt and spittle on the floor. They lie there, sometimes head down over the kegs, snoring at their mouths in their boozing sleep. That is what they call joy, because they "educate" themselves.A breath from one of these foul men had taken the room but the week before, Burke paying $2.50 in advance. The rent was paid together in nickels and dimes, supposedly the earnings of the cripples, who lived with the criminals.WASHINGTON'S MEMORY.
Thrice Observed This Year, Beginning Today With Excursions, Picnic and Sports—Banquet Tonight.A three-day observance of the anniversary of Washington's birth will be held in Los Angeles this year, owing to the fact that the date falls on Sunday. Today there will be a number of semi-public celebrations of the historic occasion; Sunday there will be services in some churches in keeping with the day, and on Monday will come the general observance, when all public offices will be closed, and there will be a general cessation of business. Sports, picnics and excursions are among the principal events for Saturday and Monday, while the Chamber of Commerce banquet tonight undoubtedly will be the most elaborate of the functions commemorative of the day.A Washington's birthday excursion will go to Capistrano today, under the direction of Eschscholtzia Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, the train leaving the Santa Fe station at 8:45 o'clock this morning, and returning at 6 o'clock this evening.
Addresses at Capistrano will be made by Bishop J. H. Johnson and Rev. H. M. Johnson. Members of the First Methodist Church, and their friends will take an "inside track" trip to Redlands and Riverside over theSouthern Pacific, leaving Arcade station at 8 o'clock a.m., and stopping two hours at each of the cities named.
A basket picnic at Eastlake Park is to be given by the Iowa Society, and it is expected that several thousand "Hawkeyes" will attend. At 1 o'clock this afternoon there will be a Driving Club matinee at Agricultural Park, in which many entries have been made, and some interesting events are promised for those who enjoy harness racing.The Chamber of Commerce annual banquet tonight promises to be successful. Over 300 tickets have been sold, and the decorations of the hall are more elaborate than any undertaken by the chamber upon a similar occasion. The Stars and Stripes, evergreen and citrus fruits are prominent in the decorative scheme.
Guests are expected to assemble at Turner Hall, on Main street, between Third and Fourth streets, at 6 o'clock, that all may be ready to repair to the tables at 7 o'clock sharp.NEGROES CHEER FOR PRESIDENT.
NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Spirited Union. The meeting was called for the purpose of protesting against the franchise of the negro in the South, and to raise money for the local contest of the new Constitu-of the United States. Among the speakers were Bishop J. H. Johnson and

MINES AND MINING.

CLARK DOES NOT
CONTROL BIG HORN.
NORTH BALDY MINES NOT SOLD TO COPPER KING.

Receiver of Golden Cross Mines Reports—King Incorporated—Baldy Mountain—Connected With Tonopah Company—First Hydraulic Miner Dead.

The Big Horn group of mines on North Baldy Mountain in this county has not been acquired by Senator W. A. Clark, nor is the company operating that property controlled by him, as was reported by a morning paper yesterday.

The Lowell and California Mining Company, which is operating the property, is a local corporation, and is backed entirely by local capital. It acquired the Big Horn group, which is at the headwaters of the San Gabriel Cañon, over two years ago and since that time, under the management of F. C. Fenner of this city, who is the organizer and backer of the company, over $200,000 has been expended in development work on the property, which is one of the promising low-grade gold propositions in this part of the country.

"I have heard before from different sources that Senator Clark and H. E. Huntington were interested, and owned a controlling interest in the Lowell and California Company," said Mr. Fenner yesterday, "but if they do, I know nothing about it, and being secretary and general manager of the company, I would naturally know if they did."

No one has put a dollar in the proposition but myself, and the entire number of stockholders at the present time is nine. The mine is not for sale, and not a share of stock has been sold by the company. Unprospected territory, in order to develop their undertakings, are many times ready to say that prominent millionaires are interested in their mining propositions.

"I firmly believe that there are large amounts of gold in the entire mine on the San Gabriel Cañon, but further believe that it will take a large amount of money to get it out, for the reason that there are boulders of such tremendous size in the hands of the river that the gold could not be extracted at a profit, only in places. That is simply my opinion, and as no one has ever tried to mine up there on a large scale, it is largely a matter of judgment."

MINE RECEIVER REPORTS.

The report of Charles W. Paulsen as receiver of the Golden Cross mines at Hedges, filed yesterday at San Diego, shows that $127,200 was realized from cyanide returns the past month. The amount paid out was $121,600, of which $1172 was for labor and material, leaving a net profit of $5,600. The estimated value of the last clean-up of the cyanide plant was $25,000. There are outstanding liabilities of $277.

GREATEST COPPER CLAIMS.

His great copper properties practically produce the copper of the world. They are owned by the Amalgamated Copper Company, the Phelps, Dodge & Co., which are in Arizona, the Hio Tinio mines in Spain, controlled by the Hio Tinio, the Boleo mines in Lower California, also controlled by the Hio Tinio, the Calumet and Hecla mines in Michigan, and the Arizona Copper Queen mines in Arizona.

IRON KING INCORPORATED.

Articles of incorporation were filed in San Bernardino yesterday of the Iron King Mining and Smelting Company, with headquarters at Los Angeles. The capitalization is $1,000,000, of which $250,000 has been subscribed. The directors of the company are: William C. Barkley, W. H. Shaw, Nathan P. Bundy, all of Los Angeles.

ENGINEER HAMMOND IN.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It was definitely announced today that John Hays Hammond had been connected with the Tonopah Mining Company. When seen, Mr. Hammond admitted his connection with the company to the extent of being its consulting engineer. Further that he did not care to speak. In this company both William C. Barkley and a syndicate consisting of members of the Guggenheim Exploration Company are interested. Mr. Hammond visited Tonopah several months ago, presumably with a view of concluding what process of treatment would be best suited to the ores of that section of Nevada. At the time it was also hinted that Mr. Hammond was inspecting the camp in the interests of some prominent capitalists in the East. Who these parties were could not be determined, as Mr. Hammond at that time refused to talk.

FIRST HYDRAULIC MINER DEAD.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

NEVADA CITY, Feb. 20.—E. D. Mattoon, the first man to introduce hydraulic mining in California, died at the County Hospital yesterday, aged 80 years. In April, 1853, Mattoon and his partners, while working a placer claim at American Hill, in this county, rigged up a hose, attached a nozzle to the end, and directing it against a gravel bank, found that a small stream of water would do the labor of a hundred men in excavating the ground. Soon after hydraulic mining came into general use throughout the county, and the noise of the old monitors continued until a few years ago, when legislation put a stop to the industry. Meantime nearly $500,000,000 in gold had been sluiced from the virgin hills of Nevada. Mattoon was a man of great wealth, made independently rich, but Mattoon was generous with his money, and he died as he lived, respected and loved, but penniless.

A FEW DAYS AGO THE LOCAL LODGE OF

Native Sons of the Golden West took the matter up, intending to assist the old man during his last days, and action was to have been taken this week.

OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE NOTES.

Washington's Birthday was celebrated on the 23d, and the field met with Pomona coming on the second.

Many will give the great loss to the work, so it decided to conduct receptions Saturday, the 28th inst.

When the announcement was made the students laughed long and hard at the subterfuge until the members of the faculty joined in.

Dr. H. C. Frost, an examiner sent out by the State University, visited the classes in Greek and Latin of the academy Thursday and Friday.

President Wadsworth announced the offer of a prize of $5 made by John W. Burgess, formerly of the best college song composed by a student.

Dr. Rice has commenced work on two of the new pieces that are to be given by the Choral Club.

Four members of the College Christian Endeavor Society were sent to the county convention at Pomona. They are Miss Merrill, Miss Edna Cumberland, Grant Jordan and L. V. C. Mylon.

Mrs. G. Yerkes and Miss Geavieve Bainbridge of Santa Barbara are visiting their cousin, William N. Kimball, for a few days. They are staying at Rev. R. W. Cleland's home.

Trainer R. W. Wadley had three of the most whose places on the relay were doubtful run a try-out quarter mile. They finished in a bunch, within one second of each other, in 34.4 seconds.

The men were H. Roney, A. R. Thompson and P. M. Herriott.

Harry Kane was sufficiently recovered from the accident of the home field day to be able to get out and train yesterday afternoon.

for Treatment.

The superstitions, who believe that Friday is a bad day, would shake their heads impressively, if they could see the list of accidents recorded in the Receiving Hospital.

Among yesterday's victims of the crushing, grinding, piercing steel of car wheels, buzz saws and bullets, one man, M. L. Cook, was seriously injured, and C. Laporte is at the point of death.

Mr. Cook, a machinist, whose home and bicycle shop are at No. 325 South Spring street, received the blow on his head when he was struck by a street car yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock. He was riding his wheel south on Spring street, and crossed directly in front of a University car running in the same direction, and was knocked down and crushed for considerable distance by the fender. Several cuts were inflicted on his head and face, and he was taken unconscious to his home. At a late hour last night he was declared out of danger.

SHOT IN SCUFFLE.

C. Laporte, aged 29, was shot accidentally, and perhaps fatally, by Charles Lockhart, of about the same age, in a friendly affray over the possession of a 22-caliber target pistol in the shooting gallery at No. 138 North Main street, yesterday afternoon.

Lockhart held the pistol, and during the contest it was discharged. The bullet struck Laporte in the right arm, and he was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he was operated on, but his chances for his recovery are considered slight. The boy's stepfather, L. M. Gorman, lives in Pomona.

BUZZ SAWS' FEARFUL TEETH.

Edwin E. Henry, proprietor of the Henry Manufacturing Company, upholsterers, was operating a buzz saw yesterday afternoon in his plant at 118 and 124 Bruno street, when the left sleeve of his coat became entangled in the teeth of the saw, and he was killed.

The victim was a man of 35, and was released in a frightful manner. He was removed to the Receiving Hospital, where the injured member was amputated below the elbow. Afterward he was removed to his home, No. 123 Broadway.

Steve Murray, a Canadian, bleeding from half a dozen cuts in the face, applied at the Receiving Hospital yesterday evening for treatment. He said that the wounds were the result of a fight he had with an unknown man, and a syndicate consisting of members of the Guggenheim Exploration Company are interested. Mr. Hammond visited Tonopah several months ago, presumably with a view of concluding what process of treatment would be best suited to the ores of that section of Nevada. At the time it was also hinted that Mr. Hammond was inspecting the camp in the interests of some prominent capitalists in the East. Who these parties were could not be determined, as Mr. Hammond at that time refused to talk.

CAUSES OF CONSUMPTION.

County Medical Association Discusses Origin of Tuberculosis and How to Prevent It—Variety of Opinions.

The Los Angeles County Medical Association met in the Ruskin Art Club Hall in the Blanchard building yesterday evening and had under consideration the cause and methods of prevention of tuberculosis, or consumption. The meeting was largely attended, and much interest was taken in the discussion. Dr. Rose T. Bullard presided. Dr. C. G. Stivers, secretary, kept tab on the proceedings.

Dr. F. M. Fordyce read a paper entitled "A study of tubercular infection; childhood a possible time when a large proportion of individuals are affected; causes and methods of infection and factors leading to the development of the disease."

Effect of High Altitude on Blood of Tubercular Patients was the subject of an interesting paper by Dr. H. Gordon McNeil.

Original discussion was participated in by Dr. George L. Cole, Dr. J. H. Ciley, Dr. J. O. Cobb of the Marine Hospital Service, Dr. C. L. Magee and others.

The fact was brought out that most cases of tuberculosis are developed in childhood and it was pointed out that parents affected with the disease should be very careful about the disposal of their sputum. The theory that consumption is hereditary was scouted by all the speakers, and the danger of parents transmitting the disease to their children by unsanitary methods was dwelt upon.

It was recommended that in case of death, carcases, bedding, etc., in apartments occupied by deceased tubercular patients should be burned, boiled or soaked in order to prevent the living germs from being inhaled by children or adults occupying the apartments.

Dr. Cole stated that many children contracted consumption by crawling or playing on carpets infected with the bacilli of tuberculosis. He also said that the germs were often preserved in books.

Dr. Cobb of the Marine Hospital Service, who is reported to be one of the best tuberculosis specialists in the country, took issue with Dr. Fordyce, Cole and McNeil in some of the theories advanced by them. He did not think that there was so much danger from infection by old carpets, bedclothes, or in fresh, moist bacilli projected into the air by the coughing of a patient. He said there was more danger of contracting the disease by inhaling the air from the lungs of a patient, or from the sputa of a patient, than from the dust of beds or carpets, or the germs inhaled from between the leaves of books.

Several new members were elected to the association, which now numbers about 200 members, and is the second largest county medical association in the State.

Letters were read from members of the Legislature pledging support for a bill to provide for quarantine against consumptives and the proper regulation of patients within the State.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Greek Drama.

Yesterday's programme at the Friday Morning Club consisted of a series of papers on "The Ancient Classical Drama," written and read by members of the Wednesday Morning Club, which organization attended in a body as the honored guests of the home club. Both the floor and the gallery was well filled with interested listeners, and the papers were received with enthusiasm.

The first six lessons of the year, beginning October 2, were devoted to the Shakespeare section of the Wednesday Morning Club to a study of an original of "Ancient Classical Drama," and the careful comprehensive, thorough review of the old comedy. A review of "The Alcestis" of Euripides was beautifully given by Mrs. H. C. Chambers, and the paper of yesterday.

The Age of Pericles was the subject of a paper by Mrs. J. B. Chambers, who told of the rise and development of the drama. The Greek theater was treated by Mrs. J. B. Chambers, who told of the rise and development of the drama.

Lighter vein was the review of and reading from the "Lysistrata" of Aristophanes, given by Mrs. Allison Barlow, who delighted the twentieth century audience with her happy rendering of the old comedy. A review of "The Alcestis" of Euripides was beautifully given by Mrs. H. C. Chambers, and the paper of yesterday.
